

Walsh In Time To Call Bill

Measure Up To House For The Recinding Of Postal Slash.

By William F. Arbogast
WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Rep. John R. Walsh (R-Ird)—who by a quick became the most important man in the House today—showed up two hours and 15 minutes late, but in time to call up a bill to restore full postal service.

The measure would cancel an order of Postmaster General Donaldson curtailing postal service. Walsh had to be on hand for the House to consider the bill.

When it first came up today—no Walsh. And for a time it looked as though the bill would be knocked off the House calendar.

But Walsh arrived at 2:15 p. m. He said he did not know he had to be here in person but when he learned that he did, he rushed back from Green Bay, Wis.

He told the House he was sorry if he had caused any trouble.

The bill before the House under a special rule adopted yesterday after 218 members signed a petition to take it away from the rules committee.

Walsh filed the petition last month after the rules committee failed to clear the bill for normal consideration.

A test vote yesterday or adoption of Walsh's special "rule" indicated strong sentiment for the bill involved. Walsh himself didn't vote. He was absent.

His office reported he was then in the way from Anderson, Ind., to Green Bay for a debate tonight with Senator Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Claimed Unnecessary

Supporters of the postal bill argued yesterday that the order curtailing postal service was arbitrary and unnecessary and said the annual savings—they estimated it at $25,000,000—could be effected without such inconvenience to the public.

Opponents replied it was the

Governor Be' At Fair August 25

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Missouri's opposition to flood control dams on the current river will be renewed at a hearing in Poplar Bluff Aug. 25, Gov. Forrest Smith said today.

That is the date set for a session at Poplar Bluff by the newly created basin inter-agency committee for the Arkansas, Red and White river watersheds.

Smith said he would not be able to attend because he will be at the State Fair in Sedalia that day. But he said he had instructed several state agencies to be represented and to reiterate the state's opposition to spoiling the current river and its springs with dams.

The state agencies are the Park Board, Conservation Commission, Resources and Development Division, Highway Commission, Health Division, Agriculture Department and College of Agriculture.

The state told Army engineers earlier it was opposed to their plans for current river dams.

Federation Day By Garden Clubs

Federation Day for the Garden clubs of Missouri will be Thursday, August 24, at the State Fair.

Mrs. P. L. Strole, chairman of the State Fair display and her committee have made plan for the various entries and worked Monday at the fairgrounds getting tables ready for the display in the Forecourt building.

Mrs. L. H. Hodges and her committee will register Federation Day members from all over town.

No plans have been made this year to save lunch in the Highway Gardens to out-of-town guests as in the past.

Carl G. Schrader Again Chairman

Carl G. Schrader was re-elected chairman of the Republican county committee at the annual organization meeting held this afternoon in the assembly room of the court house.

Others elected are Vice-chairman, Miss Olen Monsees Smithton.

Treasurer, Miss Christine Landmann, re-elected.

Secretary Carl Urban Sedalia.

Joe Shodgrass is located at Burrus Barber Shop, 115 W. 2nd.

Educator Dies

Miss Mary Lura McCluney, for 52 years a teacher in the public schools of Sedalia died this morning at Bethel hospital, where she had been a patient for more than a year.

Wrangle On Delays Over Control Bill

Plea Made To Truman on 'All-Out Mobilization'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Senate Republicans and Democrats wrangled today over what is deaving a vote on the economic controls legislation.

"This is a war measure and we need it now," Senator Robertson (D-Va.) shouted. He said attempts were being made to amend the bill until it would be worthless and said he had heard rumors the bill was a definite effort to slow action until next week.

Senator Buckner (R-Ohio), who has proposed more than a score of amendments, and GOP Leader Wherry (Neb.) denied that Republicans were seeking delays.

"I'm anxious to vote as soon as possible," Buckner said.

Robertson said prices are rising for rubber, lumber, sugar and other things, and the people are asking "why don't we do something?"

This brought a Senator Langer (R-Ind.) with a cease-thumping speech charging that the Democratic party, while in control, had done nothing.

Plea for Mobilization

"Everything is going up in the air," Langer said.

Ozarks Fair Breaks Records

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Another all-time attendance record was broken at the Ozark Empire fair yesterday.

Following a record crowd Sunday, 14,870 persons turned out for the finals of the Junior Exhibitions.

Today is District Farmers' Day of the fair with a dignitary in place of the division along the spot light.

Claims Before Throng Vision Of Virgin Mary Appeared

NECEDAH, Wis., Aug. 15.—(AP)—A back-country farm woman in a town today at the stroke of noon (CST) a vision of the Virgin Mary appeared to her for the first time.

A multitude estimated officially at nearly 100,000 persons gathered for the occasion.

Mrs. Mary Anna Van Hoof said the mother of God appeared to her and told her to pray and pray hard for the world.

Capt. Preston McEvoy chief of the state traffic police department, said that "nearly 100,000" persons were jammed into five acres standing in a blazing sun amid billowing clouds of sand to witness the scene.

About 60 priests and 30 nuns were at the kneeling wall before the statue and in front of the multitude. At 1:30 p. m. one of Mrs. Van Hoof's seven children crowned a statue of the Virgin with roses. Several persons attended.

Special Traffic Operated

The crowd had in tip of from 20,000 at noon, with no more than a hundred cars, and several special trains arriving.

The giant 11-foot-tall farm woman emerged and went directly into the house. Afterward she received the message she said was given her by the Virgin.

To Dig Bomb Shelters And Slit Trenches

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Bomb shelters and slit trenches are to be dug this month at the Elmendorf Air Force base and its adjacent housing areas.

The defense measures were announced at a still meeting of the 5th Air Force Wing the publication reported.

Location and type of construction for the shelters is under study now, it was announced.

B-29 Crashes Burns Near Fort Worth

Four Crewmen Were Killed; Eight Escape With Minor Injuries

FORT WORTH, Aug. 14.—(AP)—A B-29 bomber crashed and burned in a field "two miles north" of Caldwell Air Force base today killing four crewmen.

Eight crewmen got away with minor injuries as the four-engine bomber struck the field and slid almost half a mile, stopping just short of a cluster of houses.

The flames tumbled from the Superfortress as it plowed crazily along the ground.

Three charred bodies were removed from the nose section of the plane and one from the engine section.

From Shreveport La.

The bomber was from Barksdale Air Force base, near Shreveport, La. It apparently was flying to land at Caldwell.

Mrs. A. L. Clark of Lake Wales, Fla., said she and her husband took two of the surviving crewmen to the Caldwell base hospital in their car. Born was a Texas but one was from Ohio.

"I couldn't tell you, I couldn't pull it up," he kept repeating.

She didn't learn the fliers' names.

An explosion of fuel tipped the bomber as it entered its slide through the field.

Robert V. Ball of Fort Worth said he saw the plane falling with its left landing gear down and its right landing gear up.

Witnesses said the plane circled the field several times apparently trying to land but "couldn't pull it up."

It was from the 91st Bomb group, 1st Air Force Reconnaissance wing, Second Air Force Barksdale. The plane commander was one of the survivors.

Witness Tells Story

Mrs. O. F. Wells said the plane hit about 75 yards from her home. She said it was burning as it slid along the ground.

Two men "seen" faces smoke blackened "tumbled" on the plane and asked her for water. She gave them a drink. They then ran back toward the plane she said.

Casualties said the B-29 was a photo ship. It carried no bombs, guns or ammunition.

Rotary Picnic at Church Building

Because of wet ground, the Rotary club picnic will be held this evening at 6:00 o'clock at the B. E. Davis Presbyterian church social service building instead of the Liberty park shelter house as originally planned.

The picnic will be held at the church building.

Ozarks Area May Get H Bomb Plant

Two Locations Are Considered For The $260,000,000 Site

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 15.—(AP)—The Kansas City Star, in a dispatch from Washington last night, said two sites in the Missouri Ozarks may be considered for the site of a $260,000,000 H-bomb plant.

Senator James P. Koenig (R-Mo.) told the Star he was referring the sites to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Koenig quoted Calvin Shugart, new general manager of AEC as saying today that no site has been selected for the plant to be built by the AEC company. It has been reported the plant was to be in Arkansas.

To Be In Central West

"It was told by Shugart the plant was to be located in the central part of the United States and there was no reason why any area in the Ozarks should not be considered," Koenig said. He reported that no area north of Arkansas thus far had been inspected.

One of the sites in Missouri being suggested is the 300,000-acre forest reserve owned by the government in Oregon, Shannon, Carter and Ripley counties.

The other is in Washington on a 100,000-acre site.

The Chamber of Commerce at Caldwell sent the following telegram to Koenig which he turned over to AEC as a suggestion of the local people.

Site Is Satisfactory

This site meets requirements for security and section of isolation. Adequate power facilities are available. It is within 100 miles of both St. Louis and Norfolk.

Camden, Ark. is a good location for power generation now.

Natural gas lines are 30 miles southeast and oil pipe line 10 miles east. A highway 60 miles north by U. S. highway 60 and current river south by Missouri highway 14. There are no towns in the area. Very little private ownership in the area. There are no minerals.

The Star said today it has been reported that the plant will process uranium, one of the components of the H-bomb. The AEC has not said whether the plant's product will itself be explosive.

Heavy Earth Shock Recorded

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—One of the five greatest earthquakes ever recorded shook the earth today. The U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey reported. It tentatively placed the earthquake's location in the northern tip of Burma near the China border.

Capt. Elliot R. Jones of the survey said it reported that the earthquake had a magnitude of 8.4. He said this compares with 8.5 for the maximum so far recorded.

The earthquake had been recorded on seismographs outside the world.

So it said it was premature to be exact of the quake's location, though he was reasonably sure that the Burma-China border was correct.

He said it was a tremendous quake. It was a lumbinger earthquake, he said.

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Reinforced concrete of the northern region of New Zealand and center of the F. Springs Spas experienced a severe earthquake today at 9:45 p. m. (CST). The shock was felt in the city of Auckland and in the surrounding area.

PASADENA, Calif., Aug. 15.—(AP)—The seismicity of a California Institute of Technology today recorded a great earthquake in an area yet unexplained.

The 16 masses perched by the Bishop started at 4 a. m. at the time of the earthquake. The earthquake was recorded on the seismograph at the Bishop's house.

Fiercest Fighting Of War In South Korea As Defenders Hold

Destructive Attacks Made By U. S. Planes

Destroy Tanks And Kill or Wound Fully Hundred

TOKYO, Aug. 15.—(AP)—American fighter planes machine-gunned a group of 300 North Korean Reds east of the Nakdong river in the U. S. First Cavalry division sector today and killed or wounded 100.

An air force spokesman at American Eighth Army headquarters in Korea said the planes also destroyed three of 12 enemy tanks located west of the Nakdong in the same area.

The air force flew 230 sorties today despite unfavorable weather, the spokesman said. The attacks were concentrated north of the Waegwan on the central front where large Red forces were being assembled.

The returning fliers reported increasing enemy troop concentrations along the northern front, defended by South Korean forces. The armies strafe the Red tanks moving toward the South Korean defense line but the results of the attacks were not known.

The pilots also reported they knocked out seven of nine pieces of horse-drawn artillery near Kwanju, 22 miles north of the emergency South Korean capital of Taegu.

Hit Supply Dumps

Let and Mustang fighters and light bombers hammered North Korean communication lines and supply dumps all along the battlefield Tuesday with "excellent results."

7-80 Shooting Star jets struck the rail yard in the Waegwan area and warehouses north of Yongju. B-26 light bombers plastered bridges in the Chonju and Yongju areas.

Meanwhile the U. S. Far East air forces wrote off the huge Wonsan oil refinery in North Korea as a major strategic target for the future.

Students Have A Chance To Finish Their ROTIC Work

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Students in advanced Air Force reserve officer training can resign from reserve forces of the National Guard in order to complete their ROTIC work.

An Air Force announcement today said advanced training is considered to be third and fourth year courses.

It said these advanced courses students will be deferred from the draft after they have left the reserves, so long as they participate in the ROTIC program.

The policy of permitting resignations from reserve status does not apply to students in the basic course (first and second years) of the Air Force-ROTC Basic course students, if members of a reserve organization, will continue eligible for call to active duty.

The Navy meanwhile told its reservists how to go about requesting deferment from active duty.

The Navy is calling up reservists on a selective basis, with quotas being made up from organized units.

Must Act Quickly

In a state letter amplifying earlier instructions, the Navy said all deferment requests must be submitted within 48 hours after a reservist receives his orders. Request will be considered before the reservist gets his orders to report for active duty.

Such orders, the Navy explained, will normally allow officers and enlisted men a minimum of 10 days, including travel time, to report for duty.

Deferment requests should be addressed to the commandant of the naval district from which the reservist receives his orders. In Washington, D. C., the request should be addressed to the commandant of the Naval District of Columbia.

Red Drive Rolls To Point Six, or Seven miles East Of Nakdong River

KOREAN FRONT, Aug. 15.—(AP)—South Koreans flew the national flag everywhere along the front line villages today to celebrate the fifth anniversary of Korea's liberation from the Japanese.

By the Associated Press

Communist forces smashed savagely today against the American southern flank on the Nakdong river bridgehead southwest of Taegu, main U. S. forward base in South Korea. This Red drive rolled ahead to a point six or seven miles east of the river in the Changnyong area, 23 miles south west of Taegu, in some of the severest fighting of the war.

A breakthrough in the Changnyong sector not only would imperil Taegu, but probably would signal the beginning of what the Communists hoped would be the final push to Pusan to throw the defenders into the sea. But a U. S. officer expressed confidence the Reds could be pushed back. Headquarters said the battle was indecisive.

While the U. S. 24th Division battled the Red push on the southern flank under a blistering sun, with both sides suffering heavy casualties. United Nations forces were holding fast to the north in the area where the Reds already have swollen their bridgehead to 12,000 troops. The Changnyong front has been almost semi-circular.

Tank Punches At Reds

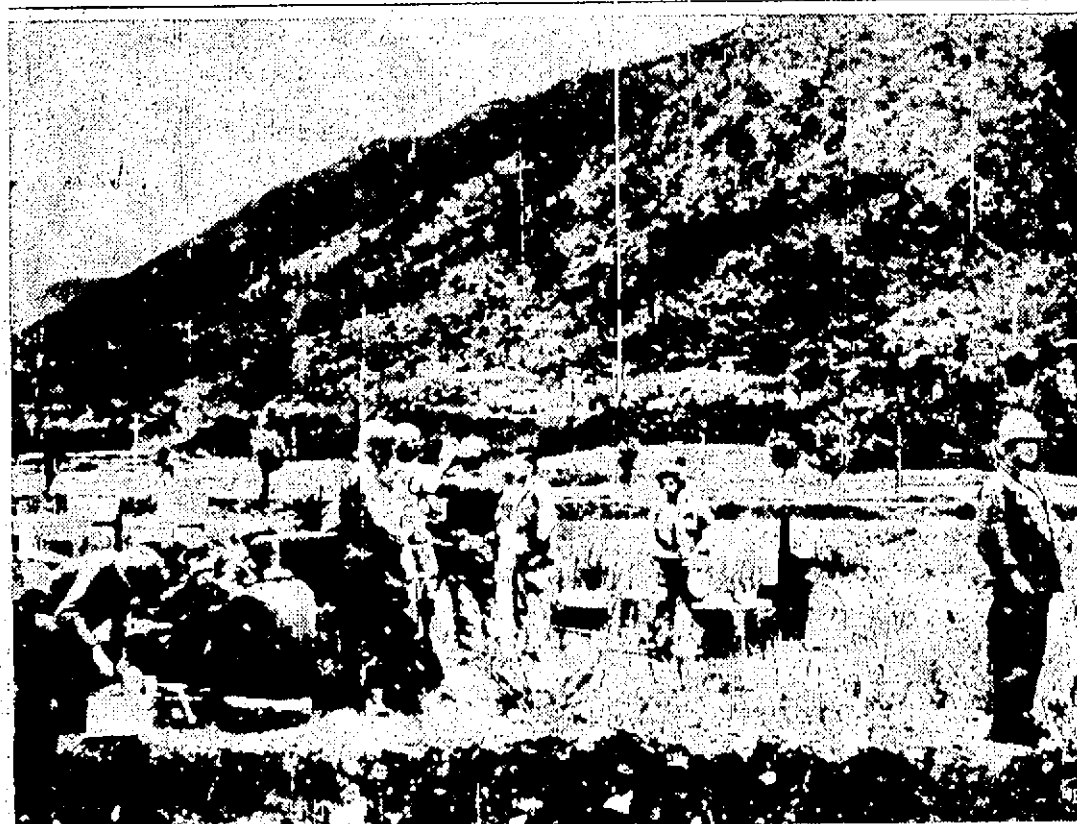

An American tank hurls shells at a North Korean-held ridge in this front line action photo. American troops have begun pressing forward in the first major offensive of the war. (NEA Telephoto by Staff Photographer Stanley Tretick)

Tank Support Against Enemy

An American medium tank blasts at enemy positions in South Korean hills as a soldier, crouched in weeds in foreground, observes hits. (AP Wirephoto)

TREACHEROUS KOREAN BATTLEGROUND—Somewhere in South Korea, American troops of the First Cavalry Division eat a hasty meal in the field before moving up to the front. Note the steep mountainside in background overlooking a narrow, dirt road. In mountainous terrain like this, guerrilla troops are able to dig in with light weapons and do heavy damage to columns of troops and armor moving down the roads. Traps Ready for Bikini Rats

SEATTLE — (P) — Frank Lowman built a better rat trap. Now he hopes the rats of Bikini atoll will beat a path to its door.

Lowman is a member of the University of Washington resurvey group that has been returning to Bikini annually to study the long-range after-effects of the 1946 atomic blasts. The scientists have found that the atoll's rats are excellent subjects for study on radiation's effects on heredity. But they also found that the atoll's swarming land crabs were a nuisance to the rat catchers.

"I'd put out 10 traps," Lowman explained, "and get nine crabs and one rat. We can use crabs for research, too, but the atoll is alive with them. You can pick 'em up on the beach any time you want them."

So Lowman devised a contraption four inches square and 14 inches deep—sort of a long corridor affair for the rats to walk into. The only way a crab could get at it would be to turn over on its back. That, says Lowman, a crab won't do.

They Muscled In

SAN BERNARDINO — (P) — When thieves broke into the Max Sidley Pipe Company, it took muscled to cart away the loot. Police reported that the thieves took 350 pounds of copper wire worth about $50.

Crude oil production in Japan totaled 1,556,000 barrels in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1950, a 40 per cent increase over the previous year.

No Meals Served In Elevator

CHICAGO — (P) — Alan Bedwell, 10, stepped into the automatic elevator in his apartment hotel, and descended to the first floor. He found then that he couldn't get up, down or out. For nearly three hours residents of the building tried in vain to free him. Firemen were called. They got him out quickly. The boy stepped out of the cage, regarded the crowd of adults darkly and said: "Why didn't someone call the fire department sooner? I'm hungry."

Takes 60,000-mile Trip
To Visit a Few Friends

Joe Pretsch and Laddie (and the jeep) went for a trip to see some of Joe's army buddies. In 28 months, they saw 250 of them. But there are still 30 left for next time.

NEA Staff Correspondent

BLOOMING GLEN, Pa.—After a long hitch in the army, a guy gets homesick to see his old buddies—homesick enough to spend 28 months on the road in a jeep.

Gunther (Joe) Pretsch, a 29-year-old ex-GI from Blooming Glen, didn't want to let his experiences fade into dim memories. He'd been with four separate organizations while in the service and he'd made a lot of friends. He also had rosters from each of those four units, and the rosters contained the addresses of the men he'd served with. Joe decided to go on a little trip.

He didn't have too much cash, but he had a good jeep he'd bought in Paris. He converted a 4x8-foot army trailer into something that would fit the requirements of travel, with a bed, stove and an ice box; it was wired for electricity and even had a water purification system.

One day in January, 1948, he started out, taking Laddie, a four-year-old collie dog, along for company. "Florida was the first stop because one of his closest buddies lived there."

"He didn't know I was coming," Joe says. "I never let anybody know that because I didn't want any fuss."

The visit was so pleasant that it gave Joe an idea; he'd spend six months touring the country and looking up old friends.

He dropped in on another pal, then hit the trail to still another. There were 280 names in those rosters with marks beside them; each represented a guy he wanted to see again.

When he realized he was getting farther away from home than he had planned, Joe took a temporary job. As he kept traveling he took more of them, picking apples put a lot of gas into the jeep; a few tons of salt got shoveled in Denver and some cows were tended near Sacramento.

"I even did a stint of short-order cooking. The job was short too," Joe grins. "The boss found out I didn't know how to cook."

After each visit, Joe continued on to another address; always assured of a welcome. And there were personal messages he picked up at each stop to be delivered farther along his route. Before the six months were ended, Joe knew he couldn't turn back.

The adventure of travel almost lured some of his old pals who wanted to accompany him. "But they were mostly the married ones," he explains, "and their wives weren't in favor of anything but my quick departure."

Although his addresses led him to only 39 states, he criss-crossed all 48 and got into Canada and as far south as Mexico City. Part-time work in Mexico was a problem, but Joe managed to stay abreast of his three-squares-a-day by stocking up on cheap tin-kits and to the natives' hearts and exchanging them for personal needs.

Heading north again, Joe stopped in Tucson, Ariz., long enough to attend the state university there for a course in business administration under the GI Bill. He had former army friends there, too.

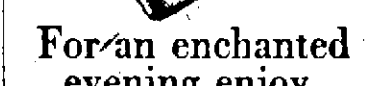

Then those remaining addresses in the rosters proved too tempting. Three months after he began the school term, Joe was on his way again. He finally saw 250 of the 280 on his list.

When he got back home, the jeep had taken him almost 60,000 miles at a cost of about $4,300, every cent hard earned.

"Maybe I'll start out again pretty soon," he says. After all, there are still those 30 buddies he didn't get to see. He may find them next time—unless they've gone to Korea.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson and Fred Blumenthal

(ED. NOTE—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, his column will be written by members of his staff.)

WASHINGTON.—Yesterday we suggested organizing home-front committees to stimulate public opinion against "me-firsters"—the war profiteers and hoarders.

This is what we would like to see stopped: Last week France's hired Washington lobbyist shipped into Garfinkel's department store and sheepishly bought out the store's supply of select bed sheets.

Harriman's Trip
The inside reason for Averell Harriman's recent trip to Tokyo wasn't to scold General MacArthur for conferring with Chiang Kai-shek, as the dopestaters have reported. Instead, President Truman simply got impatient waiting for MacArthur's report and sent Harriman to get it.

Ironically, the detailed report from MacArthur reached Washington after Harriman was already en route. So he made the trip for nothing.

Actually, Truman knew in advance that MacArthur planned to meet Chiang Kai-shek—though the time hadn't been set. The President also didn't trust Secretary of Defense Johnson to relay an accurate report, because of Johnson's strong pro-Chiang sympathies.

Malik in Doghouse

Inside the U.N. Security Council, Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik is in the Kremlin doghouse because he let U.S. Delegate Warren Austin needle him into saying that the only Russian arms possessed by the North Koreans were those "which we sold them when Soviet forces withdrew from Korea."

This is the first time Malik or any other Soviet leader has admitted that the North Koreans are using Soviet weapons.

More important, from the standpoint of the United States, it will make wonderful propaganda if we discover any Soviet military equipment in Korea that wasn't there when the Russians withdrew. This would expose Malik as a liar before the world.

For instance, we have positive knowledge that the Russians had no jet planes in Korea at the time they departed in December, 1947. So if the North Koreans turn up with jet planes, they must have come from Russia after the withdrawal.

Also, as one top official in the United States delegation explained: "Malik's statement will certainly bar the Russians from supplying the North Koreans with new arms from here on in."

NOTE—Andrei Gromyko, Malik's predecessor, is masterminding the Soviet delegate from Moscow. However, it's a cinch that the much cleverer Gromyko didn't coach Malik to make the "arms" statement.

"Indoctrination" on Communism

In preparation for the coming campaign, House GOP members are getting some expert "indoctrination" on communism in a series of three secret lectures.

The last of these lectures, scheduled for tomorrow night at Washington's Hotel Continental, will be made by James Burnham, a former Marxist now on the faculty of New York University.

Recently returned from Europe, Burnham will discuss "Soviet strategy for world conquest." Last week Dr. Stefan Possony, a Viennese who teaches geopolitics at Georgetown University, spoke on "American and Soviet Foreign Policies."

The week before GOP Congressmen got a closed-door briefing on "Stalin's International Apparatus" by Josef Zack, a former Communist and member of the party's central executive committee in the United States.

All three lecturers bear down on the fact that we are too "soft" with Communists and haven't done an effective counterpropaganda job. The GOP politicians are being urged by their leaders to make campaign speeches tying in this "professional" data on Red activities with "factivity" by the Democratic administration.

GOP Leader Joe Martin of Massachusetts frankly told his colleagues at the first secret session that the lectures would provide good "campaign material."

Proposed 'Watchdog' Groups Could Spot Real Aggressor

By Bruce Blossat

The United Nations could wisely adopt a proposal by a church group that watchdog commissions be placed in trouble spots all around the world.

The suggestion comes from the Commission of the Churches on International Affairs. Its leadership includes John Foster Dulles, Republican adviser to the State Department; Francis B. Sayre, U.S. delegate to the UN trusteeship council; Arnold Toynbee, British historian; Charles Malik, Lebanon minister to the U.S.; and several other prominent figures.

It's perhaps doubtful whether such watchdog commissions would act, as the group declares, as a "deterrent to aggression and a third World War." After all, a UN observer commission was in Korea June 24 and before, but it didn't stop the North Koreans from marching.

But such commissions can perform one vital service: carefully assessing the political and military situation in each of the critical areas, and establishing the truth about aggression if and when it occurs.

We need only listen to the platting of Russia's representative on the UN Security Council, Jacob Malik, to realize that any aggressive move anywhere by Russia or her satellites will be twisted into a "peaceful" gesture if the world's observers are not there to prove otherwise.

According to Moscow's version, it was the South Koreans who started things in Korea. The North Koreans are merely counter-attacking. And of course the United States, too, is held to be guilty of aggression against the "Korean people."

But thanks to the UN Korean commission, the world knows exactly what the facts were when the invasion began. By that date, the North Koreans already had sliced across the 38th parallel bordering South Korea at several points. These salients, designed to give the northerners tactical advantage, were never wiped out by the defenders.

Furthermore, authenticated reports made clear that the North Koreans were massing men and armor and were clearing civilians out of the border zones from which an attack would be launched.

In contrast, the South Korean constabulary army was doing little or nothing. Not only was it not deploying for an assault, it wasn't even placing itself wisely for defense. More than that, as we now know all too well, it wasn't equipped for more than internal police action.

All these facts are documented and in the UN's hands because a commission was on the scene to establish them quickly. The information actually was in the UN's possession when the Security Council met to try to end the aggression.

Russia being what it is, we will get this same fantastic inversion of the truth everywhere she threatens. Perhaps many millions of westerners, including Americans, have long since discounted anything the Soviet propagandists say. But we have to remember that in Asia and some other places the West is trusted little more than the Russians.

So it's important to unity of world action against aggression that the real facts be known to all nations beyond any shadow of doubt. Let's put watchdogs in Indo-China, Malaya, Iran, Turkey, Yugoslavia and Germany.

The logic of independence is death. Not until we are dead will we cease being independent. The logic of autonomy is anarchy. From the moment there were two people on the earth, self-rule was impossible.

THE KINGDOM AND THE FAMILY AND THE SELF

The Kingdom of the Family must be surrendered, to the Kingdom of God. It is to find itself. But the family often becomes an end in itself. Family interests decide the issues. Such a family is bound to deteriorate. A family that lives in a state of self-reference is bound to a state of self-frustration. Unless the family is dedicated to something beyond itself from which it receives goal, inspiration, and guidance, it will deteriorate into a self-centered, self-seeking unit. The probabilities are that, being self-centered, it will be self-destructive—the joints, not being held together by lofty purposes, will fall apart. It is in essence, to note that while divorces are one in six throughout our nation, among church people they are only one in fifty. That means if it means anything, that to have something beyond the family to which the family is devoted and loyal, will make that family hold together. The beyond-self loyalty will be the cement which holds it together. A family that loses its life will save it.

And now we come to the final unit that must be surrendered—the Kingdom of the Self. We have stressed this so much that we need only mention it here. This losing of the individual is something beyond itself in order to find itself. It is no mere suppressing imposition laid upon life. It is the law of life. Living from the lowest to the highest. You have to die on one level to live on another. That is the law God has written into the constitution of things. The Mineral Kingdom surrenders itself to the Kingdom above—the Vegetable Kingdom—and is taken hold of by that kingdom and is transformed from dead matter into living forms. The Vegetable Kingdom surrenders to the Animal Kingdom, and is lifted into thinking, feeling forms. The Animal Kingdom surrenders to the Kingdom of Man and becomes assimilated into the higher life of man. The Kingdom of Man surrenders to the Kingdom of God and shares a higher life. The law of life is: Lose your life and find it.

We close this discussion with the words of Robert Browning. "Who keeps one end in view makes all things serve." "O God, we have found the Way! Thy Way written in the ways of life from the Kingdom of Matter to the Kingdom of God. It is our Way, our life. If we miss Thy way, we miss our way, and we miss our life. Help us this day to accept Thy way, surrender to it, live according to it, and thus Live! In Jesus' name. Amen."

Always a Major Problem: Woman Who Talks Too Much

Pick out any woman who seems to want to be liked but who doesn't quite make the grade and you'll usually find that one of her most conspicuous faults is talking too much.

Since the tendency to talk too much is a fairly common feminine failing and one which women so easily overlook in themselves, let's take a look at some of the reasons why a too-talkative woman is the way she is.

One: She is almost always self-centered. So she finds it much more exciting to talk about herself and her own interests than to hear what other people think and what they've been doing.

Two: She is often the kind of person who feels she has to make an impression, and doesn't realize that it is better not to make so much of an impression rather than to make one that others remember unfavorably. So she must always let everybody know how important she is.

Three: She isn't aware of the feelings of others. When a big talker is boring it is obvious to everyone except her. She just doesn't pay enough attention to her listeners to sense when they have had enough of her chatter and she is.

Four: She usually sets too high a value on her own importance and the importance of her opinions. The big talker can usually

I BROUGHT Lou Bryer up to date on most of the details of Phajol's murder while we sipped our beers. He refused a second beer and his refusal indicated that he was on a job. I was sure the job had something to do with Phajol.

I spoke to the bartender: "How's the Norton kid? Has he come out of it yet?"

"He's still sleeping it off. Too bad about that guy. The only thing wrong with him is that he doesn't have Dominico's dough. He hasn't done a day's work in a year. His mother has some money and that spoiled him."

"Dominico's a tough boy for his age," I said. "He sure can punch."

I told Bryer about the incident in the taproom in which Dominico punched the Norton boy. After that Bryer excused himself and I went out to the lobby. Foster, the clerk, was busy with his bookkeeping. I put a $5 bill on the desk and said:

"I'd like some answers to some questions."

Foster lost interest in his books. "I don't know if I can give you the right answers."

"Here's a sample question. How long have you known Lou Bryer?"

Foster looked relieved. "Why, never, before today."

"If he was a total stranger, why did you let him check in without requiring payment in advance when he had no luggage?"

Foster colored slightly. "He—he had credentials."

I laughed. "Sure he had, but he didn't show them when I saw him registering! The fact is he arrived before I did today. You may as well admit you let him look inside Phajol's briefcase."

Foster became slightly pale. "I did not!"

"Don't give me that! Straight-Flush Johnny was sitting in the lobby, and he told me he saw you take the briefcase out and carry it upstairs. Bryer already had a room up there, didn't he?"

Foster looked flustered. He gazed around the lobby. It was empty, except for Straight-Flush Johnny who was gone.

"You're handing me a line!" said Foster. "Straight-Flush Johnny wasn't here then!"

I grinned. "The lobby was deserted when you took out the briefcase?"

I picked up my $5 bill as he turned red as a beet.

"Thanks for telling me!" Foster stared as I walked to the stairway. I heard him swear under his breath, then move to the switchboard and place a call. That meant Bryer was in the hotel. Probably in conference with Gremcheck. I went to Pat Phajol's room and knocked.

"Who is it?" I told her. She said: "I'm not dressed."

"Then put on something. This is important."

THERE was a minute's delay, and the door opened. Pat frowned as I entered. She pulled her wrap together at the throat.

"Lou Bryer, the insurance investigator, is in the hotel. He's probably with Pete Gremcheck."

Her eyes widened. "I don't understand."

"Plenty. I made inquiries of Bryer before I took the job with your father. Bryer is sharp. He would guess that I was going to bodyguard your father on this job. Gremcheck probably told him about Dominico's intention to buy a large order of diamonds. Bryer's company insures Gremcheck's company."

She seemed a little slow getting the idea.

"You—you think they killed dad and took the diamonds?"

"Why not? I've just found out that Bryer had a look at the inside of the briefcase you left in the safe. He knew right away that the diamonds weren't there."

How's Business?

Whoever killed your father knew that much. That makes Bryer our hottest prospect. Gremcheck is probably in with him. Gremcheck could easily dispose of the diamonds. His reputation is established and no one would ever think of checking anything he sold."

Pat sat down on the edge of her bed. Her hands were tightly doubled into fists. When she lifted her eyes I saw anger directed at me.

"You—you tipped Bryer off—you admit you talked to him about this job? You're responsible for what happened to dad!"

"No, Pat, I'm not. When I talked to Bryer, I knew nothing about the job. Bryer must have known all about it at the time from Gremcheck. Gremcheck called you, remember?"

She wasn't convinced. I stepped over to the phone and asked to be connected with Lou Bryer. There was a moment's wait, then Bryer answered. I motioned to Pat, and she came to the phone.

"Hello, Lou," I said. "Can I see you a minute?"

I held the receiver so that Pat could hear Bryer say: "All right, Del. Come up to my room. No. 28 on the third floor."

"Fine. I'll be right up." Pat was staring incredulously. I grinned. "That's the man who said he was Gremcheck, isn't it?"

She nodded. "I'll remember that voice as long as I live."

PAT was more puzzled than angry as I left her. I readily found No. 28. Bryer was alone. I was pretty sure he had taken the call in Gremcheck's room, and I was curious as to what floor that room was on. Bryer eyed me down his nose as he offered me a cigarette.

"Been playing games with the room clerk, haven't you?"

I accepted the cigaret and lit it. "Going to admit you had a look inside that briefcase?"

"Why not? I got the chief of police to introduce me when I landed in town this afternoon, and I explained why I wanted a look inside any briefcase Phajol would check into the hotel safe."

The Doctor Says—

Fast Action Can Save Sight If Stricken With Glaucoma

BY EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.

Written for NEA Service

It is believed that there are about 20,000 people in the United States who are completely blind and 150,000 who are blind in one eye as a result of glaucoma. This is particularly tragic because it could be prevented.

When treatment is begun early, the sight can be saved in nearly all cases. There are medicines available which are extremely effective in most cases of acute glaucoma. True, the drugs may have to be taken for long time, but this is a lot better than losing the eyesight. Sometimes an operation is necessary to preserve sight. The several operations used for glaucoma all have the purpose of making new paths for the drainage of the eye fluids.

Some doctors like to divide glaucoma (except those types coming from injury or disease elsewhere in the body) into four varieties: The acute inflammatory, the chronic inflammatory, the "absolute" and the chronic simple type. The acute inflammatory type of glaucoma is largely restricted to people between the ages of 35 and 70, and is somewhat more common among women than men.

The most characteristic sign is increased pressure within the eye itself. This leads to a hardening of the eyeball. The exact cause is not known.

Eye specialists also recognize secondary glaucomas which are not caused directly by blockage of the fluid drainage but to some other disease process either in another part of the eye or elsewhere in the body.

Because of its great danger to sight, glaucoma is a disease which must not be neglected. Each patient must have the special care which his particular case demands. Failure to follow advice or to continue conscientiously with the medicines or other treatment recommended may result in blindness. Treatment should be begun just as soon as possible.

Miss Julia Knight of Walsaw, formerly of Sedalia, is in Sedalia today a guest at a luncheon given by Mrs. C. D. Osborne for a number of out-of-town guests.

Mrs. A. R. Beach, voice teacher, will present her pupils in a recital at the First Baptist church at 8:00 o'clock Thursday evening, with Mrs. Beach as the accompanist for each soloist.

The program will be varied and will include voice students from the children's group through the advanced group.

Assisting will be two pianists and the male quartet of the First Baptist church.

Miss Marilyn Ann Morris, daughter of Professor and Mrs. J. R. Morris of Columbia, who are former Sedalians, became the bride of Mr. Kenneth F. Krause, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. K. F. Krause of Kansas City at 8:00 o'clock Saturday night at the Missouri Methodist church in Columbia. The Rev. A. G. Williamson read the ceremony.

The church was decorated with white asters, gladioli and chrysanthemums. Miss Betty Wetherell played several organ selections. The bride's uncle, Mr. Floyd Barnhart of Caruthersville, sang "Where'er You Walk" by Fardoe. "I Love Thee" by Greig, and "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte. The candlelighters were Beverly Morris, sister of the bride, and Michael Krause, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory slipper satin. The skirt had ruffled tiers which widened into a cathedral train. The bodice had a yoke of marquisette with sleeves coming to a point over the hand, and a fingertip veil attached to a Juliet cap.

Mrs. Wayne Spann of University City, was matron of honor. She wore a gown of lavender satin with matching mitts and a half-crown hat. She carried purple asters and gladioli.

The maid of honor was Miss Lila Morris, sister of the bride. She wore the same type dress as the matron of honor and carried purple asters and ivy.

The bridesmaids were, Miss Susan Krause, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Susan Losch of Omaha, Neb., Miss Kathleen Cearnal of Joplin, Mrs. William Hooten of St. Louis, Misses Cynthia Rupe and Peggy Schwartz of Clayton. They wore seafoam green satin dresses in the same style as the matron and maid of honor, and carried lavender asters and gladioli.

Sheila Gamel of Jefferson City, a cousin of the bride, was the flower girl.

The best man was Mr. Carl E. Corbin, Jr., of Kansas City. Ushers were, Mr. J. B. Morris, Mr. Jack Brassfield, and Dr. Lynn of Kansas City, Mr. Warren Bunting of South Pasadena, Calif., Mr. Jack Wilhite of Modesto, Mr. William Hooten of St. Louis, and Mr. Donald Lamour of Columbia.

The reception was held at the Daniel Boone hotel in Columbia. Assistants were, Mrs. John Alton, Mrs. R. R. Thomasson, Mrs. Harold Nelson, Miss Barbara Alton, and Miss Jeanne Pionier of Columbia, Miss Barbara Haynes of Kansas City, Mrs. Milton Klein of Versailles, and Miss Peggy Todd of St. Louis.

Mrs. Morris, mother of the bride, wore a gown of navy blue lace with an orchid corsage. Mrs. Krause, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gold dress with an orchid corsage.

After a trip to Laguna Beach, Calif., the couple will return to Kansas City to live at 312 West 48th Terrace. The bride chose for going away a suit of forest green with brown accessories. She wore white orchids.

Mr. Krause is a junior partner with the Krause Dental Supply and Gold Refinery.

Mrs. Herschell Hansen of near Lincoln, was hostess at a shower at her home Friday afternoon, August 11, honoring Mrs. Wendell Poague of Kansas City.

Games were played and the honoree received her gifts beneath a blue decorated umbrella which formed the centerpiece of the dining table. From the chandelier above the table cascaded frilly streamers of blue, pink and white crepe paper which touched the umbrella and gave the effect of showers.

Refreshments of pink and white cake, ice cream, iced tea, party mints and nuts were served with Mrs. W. A. Poague, Mrs. J. R. Poague and Mrs. U. H. Davis of Grantly, Ia., assisting in the serving.

Invited guests were: Mrs. Wendell Poague, Mrs. R. R. Hughes, Mrs. W. A. Poague, Mrs. David Roberts, Mrs. Eugene Roberts, Mrs. Wesley Davis, Mrs. Chester Davis, Mrs. R. C. Davis, Mrs. U. H. Davis, Mrs. W. T. Davis, Mrs. J. R. Poague, Mrs. Robert Poague, Mrs. Lee Suhl, Mrs. Jed Downing, Mrs. Harold Edmonds, Mrs. Emil Ebert, Mrs. Henry Wischmeier, Mrs. Wilson Albarn, Miss Marjorie Davis, Mrs. George Suhl, Mrs. George McCandless, Mrs. R. T. Lionberger, and Mrs. Herbert Lionberger of Clinton, and Misses Inez and Lizzie Davis.

Children present were Kay

Michael, Gayle Wisdom, Juanita Cathy and David Roberts, Loyce and Galen Davis, Darrell Edmonds, Addie Phyllis Wischmeier, and Janice, Darryl and Dwayne Hansen.

The ladies' day golf event at the Country Club last Tuesday was the total score, less two high holes. Winners were: Mrs. Leroy Hodge, first; Mrs. Fred Rulse, second; Mrs. C. G. Wilson, third.

Ladies say this week will be on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wade entertained with a family dinner at their home north of LaMonte Sunday, August 6.

A contributive dinner was served at noon and in the afternoon entertainment of music and singing was provided by Walter Wade, Jr., and son, of Sweet Springs.

Those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Wade, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Thompson and children of Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wade, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wade and children, Mr. and Mrs. Noble Wade and children of Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wade, Jr., and sons of Sweet Spring, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Manin and son, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Wade and son, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wade and son of LaMonte.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Dalman of Wapensburg, joined the group during the evening.

Church News

The T. E. L. class of the First Baptist church will hold a morning coffee at the home of Mrs. L. A. Johnson, 210 South Quincy avenue at 9:00 o'clock a.m. Thursday. Each member is asked to bring sweet rolls.

Trip is Won to Convention

Lawrence S. Ward and Orville O. Green, of the Sedalia agency of the Victory Life Insurance Co., have been notified that they qualified for the company agency convention, to be held at the Edgewater Gulf hotel, Blox, Miss., January 28 to 31, 1951.

Each of these men have in six months less than the time allotted produced better than a quarter of a million of new business, which was required to qualify for this convention trip.

There will be an attendance at this convention of the leading Victory Life salesman from Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and Texas, together with officers and directors of the company.

Obvious That Russia Move In

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 15—(AP)—Rep. Dewey Short of Galena, Missouri's only Republican representative, says there should be a thorough housecleaning in the U. S. Defense and State Departments to "give us added strength."

In a radio address broadcast over 25 Missouri stations last night, Short blamed the Truman administration for the nation's unpreparedness in Korea.

Short said that when he visited Korea as a member of the armed service subcommittee in 1946, it was obvious that Russia would move into Korea the minute the United States moved out.

"That is just what happened, though President Truman has recently and repeatedly told the American people that we were closer to peace than at any time since the shooting stopped in 1945," Short said.

According to the most widely accepted explanation, the turkey's name was given it because of its call-notes: "Turk-turk-turk."

Son Attempts To Kill His Father

DETROIT, Aug. 15 — (P) — Wounded by his 14-year-old son who swore to kill him, 42-year-old Lyle L. Griffin was in a serious condition today with a rifle bullet hole through his body.

The son, Lyle Griffin, Jr., was held at Detroit's juvenile detention home.

He said he was "sorry" he didn't kill his father for beating his (the boy's) mother, Mrs. Mabel Griffin, 45, mother of the boy, in Van Dyke Memorial hospital with head injuries Police Sgt. Michael Helming said she suffered when her husband broke a chair over her head because she refused to give him $5 for whiskey.

The elder Griffin was shot with a 22-caliber rifle as policemen were putting him in a patrol car at his Warren township home.

Draft Law Is Explained

said that a draft eligible, like any other citizen, may enlist in any branch of the armed services he wants. By doing so he gets a preference of the branch in which he wants to serve.

Enlistments Before Call

But, he said, the prospective draftee must enlist before he receives any call from selective service—either for physical tests or induction.

As for draft eligibles who want to join organized reserve units now and thus await a call to active duty with that unit, the selective service official said:

The armed forces are not now accepting such men in organized reserve units where it is known they are in imminent likelihood of being called to duty under selective service.

Men who reach their 26th birthday or who have dependents are not subject to induction under the draft law. Many men who are ordered to take physical examinations are discovered later to have passed the age limit or have acquired dependents.

Streams Rising Due Heavy Rains

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 15—(P)—The mar. at the weather bureau scanned his reports of more rainfall in Missouri and remarked: "It's sure wet."

It was, too. Especially at Amity and Fairfax, where 2.66 and 2.58 inches of rain, respectively, fell today. At Amity the weather bureau reported two inches fell in 25 minutes.

Chillicothe, on the Grand river, had 1.03 inches. The river crested yesterday at 17.8, about a foot below the new water level. The additional rainfall will bring the river up, but just how much had not yet been determined.

Galatin reported .85 inches. Fairburn reported .76 and Sumner .36.

At Lake of the Ozarks 1.01 inches fell, bringing the lake to a stage of 60.3 and still rising. Bank- ing rains are expected in the state tonight or tomorrow morning.

Two streams, the Lamine river and the Blackwater river, will go out of their banks tonight or tomorrow. The Lamine is expected to reach 17 feet, two over bank- full, at Clinton City about 1 p. m. tonight and crest of 26 1/2 feet on the Blackwater at Blue Lick, Mo., banking is 25 feet.

the case of air reservists orders generally will be issued from the air reserve training headquarters at Glenview, Ill.

Reservists who have received denials of their deferment requests and those who have not received any reply to such requests must comply with the original order to report for duty.

The Navy said an individual may appeal from a denial for deferment after he reports for duty.

All deferment requests, the Navy emphasized, will be considered on their individual merits. "No blanket deferments will be made," the Navy stated.

The Navy explained that initial deferments will be limited to six months, in line with Defense Department policy.

Deferment categories established by the Defense Department Aug. 3 may apply to naval reservists who are enrolled in educational institutions, pursuing professional graduate courses, or who are engaged in research in a field of primary interest to national defense.

Deferment also may be considered in individual personal hardship cases, and for reservists employed in critical or essential civilian occupations.

Streams Rising Due Heavy Rains

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 15—(P)—The mar. at the weather bureau scanned his reports of more rainfall in Missouri and remarked: "It's sure wet."

It was, too. Especially at Amity and Fairfax, where 2.66 and 2.58 inches of rain, respectively, fell today. At Amity the weather bureau reported two inches fell in 25 minutes.

Chillicothe, on the Grand river, had 1.03 inches. The river crested yesterday at 17.8, about a foot below the new water level. The additional rainfall will bring the river up, but just how much had not yet been determined.

Galatin reported .85 inches. Fairburn reported .76 and Sumner .36.

At Lake of the Ozarks 1.01 inches fell, bringing the lake to a stage of 60.3 and still rising. Bank- ing rains are expected in the state tonight or tomorrow morning.

Two streams, the Lamine river and the Blackwater river, will go out of their banks tonight or tomorrow. The Lamine is expected to reach 17 feet, two over bank- full, at Clinton City about 1 p. m. tonight and crest of 26 1/2 feet on the Blackwater at Blue Lick, Mo., banking is 25 feet.

the case of air reservists orders generally will be issued from the air reserve training headquarters at Glenview, Ill.

Reservists who have received denials of their deferment requests and those who have not received any reply to such requests must comply with the original order to report for duty.

The Navy said an individual may appeal from a denial for deferment after he reports for duty.

All deferment requests, the Navy emphasized, will be considered on their individual merits. "No blanket deferments will be made," the Navy stated.

The Navy explained that initial deferments will be limited to six months, in line with Defense Department policy.

Deferment categories established by the Defense Department Aug. 3 may apply to naval reservists who are enrolled in educational institutions, pursuing professional graduate courses, or who are engaged in research in a field of primary interest to national defense.

Deferment also may be considered in individual personal hardship cases, and for reservists employed in critical or essential civilian occupations.

OBITUARIES

Miss Mary Lura McCluney

Miss Mary Lura McCluney, for 32 years a teacher in the public schools of Sedalia, died at 1:30 o'clock this morning at the Bothwell hospital where she had been a patient since July 28, 1949.

Miss McCluney was born in Dresden on February 4, 1867, the daughter of Thompson Provance and Mary McCluney. In 1884 the family moved to Sedalia and she began her teaching career here at Summit school, where Washington school now stands and later taught at Broadway. In 1904 she went to the high school where she remained as teacher of English until her retirement in 1939. During her years of teaching she taught two and three generations in many Sedalia families.

Established Cattle Service

During her illness many of her former pupils even from a distance have visited her, and written to her, and among the many things that she has contributed to the lives of those she taught was the establishment of the traditional cattle service for each senior class at Smith-Cotton high school.

Miss McCluney received her P. D. B. and B. S. in Education at the Central Missouri State college, Warrensburg, and studied further at Cornell university, Boulder university, Missouri university and Chicago university.

She was a member of Sorosis, Helon D. Steele Music club, the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Calvary Episcopal church.

The last of her immediate family of her parents and sister, Mrs. Susan Dugan, all of whom preceded her in death. Miss McCluney is survived only by nieces, nephews and cousins.

Funeral services will be held at 10:00 o'clock Wednesday morning at the McLaughlin chapel.

The Rev. Miller, pastor of the Episcopal church in Warrensburg, will officiate. Mrs. James Atkinson will play several selections on the organ.

Palbearers will be James Atkinson, George Scruton, Forrest Drake, Jim Reed, E. A. Strelow and Joe Benson.

Burial will be in the Dresden cemetery.

Missouri Pacific Ran Lines Into Town in 1858

Have you ever heard of a town being named for two gallons of whiskey? California, Missouri, located 39 miles east of Sedalia on U. S. highway 50, is supposed to have gotten its name just that way.

Legend has it that back in the 1840's an individual by name of David Garner was spending much of his time and money working on a small settlement about one mile east of the present town of California. He decided that the settlement needed a blacksmith shop and promptly called in a group of neighboring settlers for the traditional house raising. While this was in progress California Wilson, a brother-in-law of Garner, happened to be passing through and decided to participate in the project. A characteristic feature of the house raising was the celebration always held in connection with it, and as soon as the building was completed this entertainment got into full swing.

A Proposition

California, realizing this was an opportunity to preserve his name for posterity, approached several of the men with a proposition. If they would name this settlement after him, he would contribute two gallons of his whiskey to the party. The settlers, who considered whiskey to be more important than a town's name, eagerly held out their hands and California received its name.

California was actually established in 1845 and seven years later the court house was built. Although the original settlement was named California several of the citizens thought that since Daniel Boone had passed through the region many times in his travels from Kentucky and Pennsylvania that the town should be named in his honor. As a result, the original nostricks for the land surrounding the court house were issued under the title of Booneborough. It was not long, however, before the town reverted back to the name California.

Railroad in 1858

In 1858 the Missouri Pacific railroad ran its lines through California. The track was laid out about one-half a mile south of the court house and this caused the town to expand toward the destroyed by fire and again in railroad track, building a new shopping center as the advancing was burned. In the latter fire area became more populated, and today California is made up of two towns with two separate business districts, one in the old court house region and the other near the Missouri Pacific tracks. building which housed the offices of the Civil War. Gen. Sterling Price, a former governor of Missouri, at this time was conducting his series of raids on Missouri towns, especially in the Missouri river area. In 1863 Price and his army camped about one mile outside of California. Learning of this encampment the Union forces set up their cannons on the court house lawn and proceeded to bombard the Confederate position. This fire was returned although no great damage was done to the town.

Has Woolen Mills
The Montpelier Wool Mills, one of the town's leading industries at the present time, was started in 1886 by a group of sheepmen who used the plant to spin yarn from their raw wool. This yarn was not sold on the market, but used by the sheepmen to make clothing for themselves and their families. Later, however, the plant grew in size and the yarn was eventually sold on the market.

Army Moved In
The next day Gen. Price led his army into California where they burned the Missouri Pacific depot and tore up a large portion of the railroad track before moving on.

A story still familiar to many was eventually sold on the market. The plant employs 400 persons and has been able to turn out 100,000 yards of cloth each month. The wool cloth is dyed a pattern to be a prominent visit. Living in California at that time was J. P. Burke, Sr., a young physician who had opened his office and set up practice a short time before the James visit.

Prevented Bank Robbery
It was not long after the arrival of the James gang that Dr. Burke was seen on the street talking with them. After this talk with Burke, James and his men mounted their horses and left the town. When asked what his connection with the James was Burke said that James was his friend. He told the town that when James was in town he had intended to rob the bank there. When James told Burke of his intentions, however, Burke pleaded with him to leave the town alone. Burke's pleas caused James to reconsider and brought about his promise to leave peacefully. Burke's son, Dr. J. P. Burke, Jr., is still practicing in California. In 1901 the west side of the

Another Leading Industry
The California Manufacturing Company, producers of cloth and leather jackets, is considered by others in the jacket field to be the leading manufacturer of such apparel in the midwest. The company turns out 10,000 jackets each week. Over 275 persons are employed in the factory. The jackets, which are made from 120 different patterns are sold to the wholesalers in each of the 48 states.

The factory, prior to its conversion to jackets in 1943 manufactured typewriters. Sam J. Brodstein is the company's president and Harry Keyman is the vice president and designer. The company changes its styles each year. This allows them to feature both a Spring and Fall line of clothing.

Saddlery Company

Another of the town's industries is the Heck Saddlery company which was established in 1854 by J. Markworth and taken over by William Heck in 1881.

The company is involved in the wholesale and retailing of saddlery, horse collars and dog equipment. It employs ten men and sells its products in the midwestern states. Partners in the business are Harry F. Heck and Richard Heck.

This year will be the 84th year in which the Montpelier County Fair has been held in California. The fair, which is sponsored by the Montpelier county agricultural and mechanical society, will be held on August 2, 3, 4 and 5 this year.

Improvements

The town owns and manages its own electric and water plants. A sewerage system has been installed and a street department is in constant operation. The city proposes to install a sewerage disposal tank and set up a more powerful lighting system along the town's main streets.

The fire department is composed of a 15-man volunteer force operating one truck. The town is policed by a city marshal and a night officer.

The mayor of California is Geo. P. Stegner, a retired businessman. The town is administered by a mayor and a city council. No partisan politics are involved in the city elections, which are held every two years. The mayor and councilmen run on independent tickets, and there is no limit to the number of candidates who can file for each office. Since 1940 the population has increased from 2,625 to 2,625.

Editor's Note

This is the second in a series of feature articles being published in the Sedalia Democrat-Capital on towns in this trade region. One article will appear every two weeks, accompanied by aerial photographs of the featured town.

A reporter has visited or will visit each place in the area seeking information on the background, history of the town, unusual historical incidents, outstanding industries and other data to be used in the story.

Game Tonight Off Play Two On Wed. Night

Meet Mexico Here
Starting at 7 p.m.;
Moberly Thursday

The Ban Johnson game between the Sedalia Chiefs and the Columbia McKays has been postponed because of the rain. The Chiefs are now scheduled with a double-header Wednesday night against Mexico — weather permitting — starting at 7:00 o'clock. Already weather has postponed a double-header scheduled for last Sunday, the game with Columbia, all in all which may push the B. J. season later than usual.

The Chiefs, shed their title "Sedalia Whiz Kids Merchants" used in the recent Semi-Pro tourney, and are now settling their attention to the Central Missouri (southern division) League championship. The Chiefs have a seven-two standing in the second half and are leading Columbia by fractions in the percentage column.

Leading Second Half

If the Sedalians can win the second half of the season they will be undisputed champions of the Southern Division and will then enter a play-off with the champions of the Northern Division for the 1950 Central Missouri championship.

It's a crowded week for the Chiefs—weather permitting—as they are scheduled to meet Moberly Thursday night there, Jefferson City there on Friday night and an unscheduled team here on Sunday. The rain the past several days has "messed up" the entire last portion of the schedule. G. O. "Dutch" Hawley, manager said.

Many Postponements

Although the rain has caused postponements, it has been in favor of the Chiefs to one extent: It has given the pitching staff a needed rest and the boys should be ready to go as soon as play can be resumed. The tournament and B. J. schedule from July 20th up until Sunday has kept the Chiefs on a busy schedule.

With the tournament behind them in which they provided an excellent record, winning second place and beating some of the best semi-pro teams in Missouri, the Chiefs are ready to capture the B. J. title in the Central Missouri League. After that's over they will meet the champions of Greater Kansas City for the state championship.

Six Schools Are Dropped By NCAA

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—(P)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association council has recommended suspension of six schools from NCAA membership for reported violation of the "sanity code."

The schools were not identified. However, it was indicated other schools might be added to the list. The action was taken yesterday. Disciplinary action must be voted upon at the full NCAA convention in Dallas, Tex., Jan. 10-13. Suspension bars disciplined schools from competition with other NCAA members and from association championships.

The council, in a week-end session here, heard a report on 11 suspected violators of the code since the last NCAA convention in New York in January. The other five cases must await further investigation.

Four of these were said to be about to accept the provisions of the controversial code which places a strict limit on financial aid to athletes.

A majority vote of the estimated 312 NCAA members will be necessary to blacklist the six reported offenders. The code permits tuition only to athletes on the basis of need.

1700 Fire in Grand American Trapshoot; There Has Never Been a Repeater in 'Cap

DEAD AIM—A threat in virtually any championship is Joe Devers. Left of Dayton, O., currently the boy wonder of the shotgun world at 19. Mrs. Claude Winterrowd of Chicago is the defending titleholder in the women's clay targets championship of North America. Pete Donat of Amherst, O., seeks to become the first Grand American Handicap repeater in 51 years. He won an exciting shoot-off a year ago.

By NEA Service

VANDALIA, O.—(NEA)—There's no law, unless it's a natural one, against winning the Grand American Handicap twice. But nobody has done it in 50 past shootings.

Usually, it's won by a dub. The Handicap is, of course, the big number of the Grand American Trapshooting Championship. Tournament at Vandalia Field, Aug. 18-26. The "Cap" itself is down for Aug. 25.

The 51st annual Grand American Trapshoot is expected to attract 1700 entrants from the United States, Canada, Cuba and the Canal Zone to its permanent home 10 miles north of Dayton, 5000 targets registered for a total of 1758, look part in the pebble with the Amateur Trapshooters Association. Recently he won the Sun Valley Preliminary Handicap in Idaho with 90 out of 100 from the 25. He achieved time on 35 traps extending in front of the clubhouse for more than a quarter of a mile.

There are all types of events, but the Grand American Handicap from 17 to 25 yards always grabs the headlines.

Pete Donat of Amherst, O., seeks to become the first GAA repeater this trip. Donat, an unknown, like most Grand American champions, borrowed a field gun from a friend to shoot in the Handicap, cracked 100 straight from 20 yards. Tied by another Ohioan, I. W. Sondermann of Lima, he won an exciting shoot-off.
